

«Your Friends»

Why do I sing here?
I know it would be better to bite my tongue off and try to call you instead of singing for screaming
for shouting
since you don't sing back at me.

You know we've been here numerous times before.
You're still the old
You keep it silent, watch me singing
for screaming
for shouting
since you do nothin back at me

I am in a studio with all these lights on record
It seems they wave back!
He thinks we're waving at him, dancing and shouting and laughing and smiling and flirting and fucking and getting married, having kids,
live happily for a couple of years.

I should send greetings
there must be billions of them They're looking forward To meet you one day, but they're locked up,
like Tofu animals.
But I promised them
I will let you now that

We are your friends – You will never be alone again
We are your friends – You will never be alone again
Come on
